Sustainability at Carringtons Catering

As a small independent family run company Carringtons have a strong local focus and are committed to finding not only the best local ingredients, but also to making sure they are ethically sourced and receiving them directly from the supplier and developing sustainable.

By reviewing our practices and developing sustainable relationships we have established better waste management initiatives challenging all our suppliers to deliver package free.

We support other local businesses and recruit locally, regularly meet with business owners and managers in the region with the incentive of passing work within the local region

Our commitment to the environment and taking steps to creating a greener future is a very important part of Carringtons culture

Darren Wynn, Master Chef of Great Britain is Director of Food, with final say on all menus created and very importantly all ingredients that go into our homemade dishes working closely with suppliers so that we can vouch for the quality of our menus from field to plate.

Suppliers that have been involved in your event menus include some who are less than 4 miles from food production or venue and many similar independent family run businesses within a 25 mile radius
